DETAILED ACTION

Status of Application, Amendments and/or Claims

The amendment of 12/6/05 has been entered in full. Claims 8-9 are canceled.
Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 11, 12, 14-17, 20 and 21 are amended.
Claims 1-7 and 10-21 are pending.

Notes

- (1) For purposes of restriction, claim 11 has been interpreted as a member of Group II.
- (2) Claim 21 recites, "the method of claim 16..." but parent claim 16 is directed to a cell rather than a method. For purposes of restriction, claim 21 has been placed with the cells of Group II.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-7 and 12-15, drawn to a method of assessing whether a test sample activates the intestinal tract immune system, comprising contacting a test sample with cell expressing an intestinal tract tissue-expressed Toll-like receptor (TRL) and measuring signal transduction activity of said receptor.

Group II, claims 10, 11 and 16-21, drawn to a cell expressing an intestinal tract tissue-expressed TRL, and methods of constructing said cells by introducing a vector into a cell, classification dependent on cell type.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature linking groups I and II appears to be that they all relate to a cell that expressing an intestinal tract tissue-expressed TRL, for example TRL9.

However, the specification teaches (pg 1) that "Previous studies have reported ... the effect of various CpG DNA motifs derived from pathogenic E. coli on cytokine yield in HEK293 cells that were forced to express human TLR9 (Non-Patent Documents 3 to 5). The specification further teaches that document 3 was published in 2000, document 4 was published in 2002 and document 5 was published in 2001. The earliest date to which the instant application claims priority is July 17, 2003. Therefore, cells expressing TRL9 were known in the prior art and the technical feature linking the inventions of Groups I and II does not constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Rejoinder

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
